Mental Health Association of Essex and Morris comes to West Orange

Sheldon Gross Realty managed lease of three suites at 80 Main Street

West Orange, NJ (July 9, 2019) – A well-respected mental health provider with a long history throughout the local area has come to West Orange.

The Mental Health Association of Essex and Morris, which has roots dating back to 1950, is now leasing a trio of suites within the five-story, 100,000-square-foot office building at 80 Main Street. Headquartered in Montclair, the association has other locations in East Orange and Parsippany.

The lease arrangement was managed by Eric Weston, vice president of Sheldon Gross Realty, a full-service commercial real estate firm that covers all of New Jersey. Sheldon Gross Realty is itself a longtime tenant of 80 Main Street.

“Because my office is here, I’m well aware that 80 Main Street in West Orange is a terrific location, and it’s a special treat for me to bring in a new tenant that will do so much to support our local community,” Weston says. “The Mental Health Association of Essex and Morris provides a wealth of services that can truly improve people’s lives. And I know the association will be delighted with this location, because it’s home to such a variety of companies and organizations. It’s ideal for making and maintaining connections.”

Sheldon Gross Realty has managed the real estate needs of 80 Main Street for more than a decade. In February, it announced a total of three new leases and seven lease renewals in the building, all of which were managed by Weston.
